

LOVE THAT SEATBELT is the way 18-year-old Paul Schnautz feels about that accessory. He had the belt fastened when his timber-loaded truck overturned and rode it out without a bruise or scratch. Paul lives at Clay City, in southern Illinois, and is a part of the family business of supplying hardwoods to the northern market. He was carrying eight tons of oak flooring. A frequent user of U.S. 45 he knew there was a stop ahead in Frankfort at U.S. 30 and as he neared the curve south of the junction stepped on his brakes preparatory for the stop ahead. There weren't any brakes. Subsequent investigation, according to Frankfort Police Chief Francis Simon, revealed a tiny hole had worn in the vacuum line and there was no air for the brakes. To avoid a possible collision at the junction with U.S. 30, Young Schnautz swung right into the drive of the Standard station at the southeast corner. There is a parking lot at the rear and he noted it was empty. If he had to crash that was the place for it but he didn't quite make the lot. The turn and his apparently top-heavy load made too potent a combination. The truck rolled over on its side but fortunately short of the station. There was no damage to the station. Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,000. The driver attributed his escape from injury to the fact that he was wearing a seatbelt. "I'll always have that fastened on me when I'm on the road from now on," he declared.

Three-Day Celebration Will Mark The Fourth At Mokena

Rides, a parade, an auction, games, fun and fireworks!

Those are the highlights of the annual Fourth of July festival sponsored by the Mokena Lions club and the Mokena Chamber of Commerce.

The festival gets underway Saturday, July 3, at Mokena Community Park and will continue thru three days. Everyone is invited.

The parade will be the afternoon of the Fourth, starting from Carpenter Street school grounds at 1:30 o'clock. The Lincoln-Way high school band and the Mokena grade school band will provide music for the marchers.

According to Norval Robinson the units participating in the parade are to assemble at the school grounds at 1 o'clock so they can move off promptly at 1:30. They will proceed south on Division street to Front, west on Front street, to Mokena street and thence south to the park.

Various organizations will have booths at the park to provide amusement and refreshments for the visitors. There will be rides at the park too for the young and the young at heart. Bargain prices will prevail for the rides between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday.

An auction is to be staged at the park Saturday evening between 6:30 and 8 p.m., with Norman Strassenberg the auctioneer. Persons with items they want sold may bring them to the large van parked between the Grey Real Estate office and Park and Shop on Wolf rd. The owner will receive 90 per cent of the sales price, the other 10 per cent going to the Lions and the Chamber of Commerce.

If pick-up service is needed one may call 479-5776.

One of the items to be auctioned is a foot-powered cottage organ which has been overhauled recently and provided with new reeds, it was announced.

Eight fire departments have entered teams for the water ball fights to be staged the afternoon of the fourth and there will be races for the children, under the direction of Vernon Lankenau. Dancing is also on the card from 3:30 to 4:30 and 7:30 to 8:30 Fire Chief Robert Rust and John Scarth, president of the fire department, will have charge of the water fights.

The Two Mokena Babe Ruth teams, the Reds and the Blues, are to play at 3 p.m. Monday.

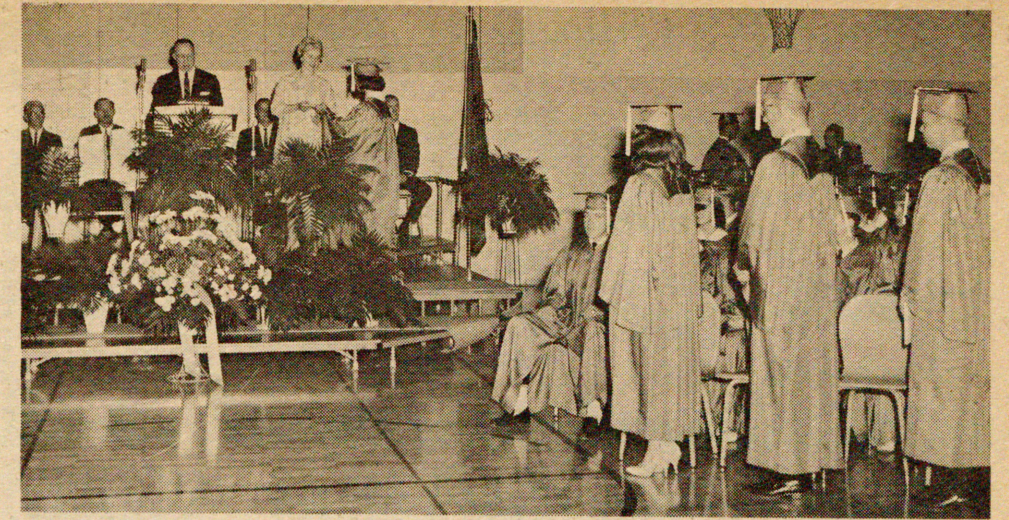

The fireworks are scheduled for 9:30 Monday night, followed by distribution of prizes.

Says Tax Payments At Town Level Would Benefit Schools

Tax bills are in the mail this week. In fact many persons in the area have already received them. Deadline for payment of all personal property taxes and the first installment of the real estate tax bill is Aug. 1. Township collectors will turn over their books to County Treasurer J. Leo Waldvogel on that date and he will collect the remainder of the bill. The second installment on real estate will be due Oct. 1 this year.

Ordinarily June 1 is the deadline for collection by the town collectors, and the second installment is due Sept. 1, but because of the large volume of work thrust on the board of review this year the books were completed late, which means that the tax bills could not be made out for delivery last spring. The task of making out the bills has just been completed and turned over to the town collectors for mailing.

L-W Board Names Moss To Replace Lorin Schleeter

Earl R. Moss, New Lenox township, has been appointed by the Lincoln-Way high school board as a member to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lorin Schleeter. Mr. Moss is a partner in the Moss Equipment Co., a farm machinery dealership at New Lenox. He is president of the L-W Parent-Teacher Group, having been re-elected this spring for a second term.

Mr. Schleeter had previously moved from the Manhattan unincorporated area to the village of New Lenox. The Illinois School Code is rather indefinite regarding this question of residency of board members serving community high school districts. In 1961 an amendment was added to the specific law requiring that at least two members reside in an unincorporated area, if the assessed valuation of the district from the rural area amounts to more than 30% of the entire district. The local district has always met this requirement and does so at the present time, even after Mr. Schleeter moved.

In order to clarify the question, the board of education, immediately following the April election, thru their attorney, requested State's Attorney George Sangmeister to secure an official ruling from the Attorney General, William G. Clark.

This ruling in part stated: "A member who moved from an unincorporated area to an incorporated area prior to the expiration of his term, his change of residence IPSO FACTO creates a vacancy on the board."

The ruling also specified that the successor shall have the same type of residential qualifications as his predecessor.

It was further stated that the same decision would be reached if a member moved from an incorporated area to an unincorporated.

Mr. Schleeter was first elected in 1955 for the two year unexpired term of George Bovee. Subsequently he was re-elected for three three year terms. During the past year Mr. Schleeter served as President of the board.

The board also was informed that hereafter ballots in board elections should carry the address of candidates with a notation as to whether they live in an incorporated or unincorporated area.

the bills and other incidentals. The remainder of the fees goes to townships.

If people could pay the entire tax bill and pay it to the collectors it would be even better, Supt. Ennis declared. He discovered that where taxes are paid by savings and loan associations or banks from escrow accounts of homebuyers, most of such firms pay the first installment to the town collectors.

"It would be wise," he added, "for homeowners to check to make sure this policy is continued."

He stated that one large savings and loan company does not deal with town collectors but pays taxes left in their charge at county level. It would help, Ennis declared, if it paid the first installment, at least, to the town collectors.

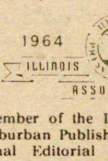

"In theory, at least," he summed up, "if taxes are paid at township level the average taxpayer could expect better schools, and better roads and bridges."

Sends Out Brochures On Child Abuse Law

Brochures describing how the new Illinois child abuse law will work have been mailed by the Department of Children and Family Services.

They were sent to some 23,000 Illinois physicians, surgeons, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, podiatrists, Christian Science practitioners and hospital administrators. These are the persons who must report suspected cases of child abuse to the department under the law that takes effect today July 1.

Dr. Donald Brieland, department director, said brochures are also being mailed to sheriffs, police chiefs, judges, states attorneys, welfare agencies, school administrators, public health departments, public aid superintendents and news media.

"There are two keys to make the law work to save children from brutal beatings and neglect," he said. "One is making people aware of the law. The other is encouraging those covered by the law to file reports when they examine children whose symptoms indicate abuse or wanton neglect." The law grants physicians and hospitals immunity from legal action when they make reports.

Posters are being issued to hospitals for display in emergency rooms. They call attention to the usual kinds of abuse and alert doctors and hospital personnel to notify the administrator whenever they treat a child whose condition cannot be explained as accidental.

The brochure explains what practitioners must do when they suspect a case of abuse. It also describes how social workers from the department will provide protection for the child, as well as counsel for the child's family.

When the act against the child provides the basis for criminal action, the department will turn over the information to the states attorney of the county having jurisdiction.

Dr. Brieland said mailing of brochures would be completed by July 1. After that time, interested persons or agencies may obtain a copy by writing to the Department of Children and Family Services, Room 404, State Office Building, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

Independence Day

Sunday will be Independence Day. At that time the nation will celebrate its 189th birthday. And many a person will wistfully and nostalgically wonder, "Whatever became of the old-time Fourth of July."

There are various answers. The urbanization of the country is one. Mobility which, whatever its attractions, makes for family rootlessness is another. The enormous distractions of the present age are still another. And so it is a preoccupation with material things which tend to obscure simpler and often more profound virtues.

At any rate, the Fourth our fathers knew was a special and unique observance. It was a happy combination of fun and reverence for the men and principles that make up our rich history.

The flag flew everywhere. The speakers' stands in the town squares blazed with bunting, and the bands tirelessly played patriotic airs. Fireworks exploded endlessly, ranging from the ubiquitous firecracker to the stunning set pieces celebrating great events of the past.

It was a wonderful day for young and old.

Not the least of its attractions were the fiery addresses made by well-known public figures of the time. Some of these, needless to say, were of low oratorical level. But all of them had one thing in common. They paid tribute to freedom, and how it was won, and what was needed to maintain and defend it. The theme was patriotism - dedicated and unabashed. And every listener went away with a little better knowledge of our inheritance as a people and a little more determination to keep the spirit of the founders alive.

God and country were precious things, to be revered and cherished. Anyone who sought to undermine our institutions was a foe to be stamped out.

The old-time celebrations will be few and far between this year. But, whatever we do, wherever we go on that day, let us take a moment to think what freedom and independence, in the fullest sense of those words, mean -- and let us determine that our heritage shall never be lost.

Will Co. Residents Give Views On Public Issues

The continued participation of the United States in the war in Vietnam is supported by a majority of the Will county residents who participated in a recent public opinion poll conducted by U. S. Rep. John N. Erlenborn (R), of the Illinois 14th Congressional District.

Congressman Erlenborn distributed 50,000 questionnaires to residents of DuPage and Will counties. He received 12,000 returns. Thirty-five per cent of the returns were from Will county residents.

The public opinion poll included nine questions concerning pending and proposed legislation, and six concerning foreign policy.

In Will county 77 per cent of those participating in the survey opposed the United States pulling out of Vietnam. Sixty-two per cent of those surveyed favored negotiations concerning Vietnam.

On other foreign policy questions 80 per cent of the Will residents opposed both admitting Red China to the United Nations, 84 per cent opposed trade with Red China, 76 per cent opposed expanded trade with communist-bloc nations and 85 per cent opposed expanded economic aid to communist-bloc nations.

Congressman Erlenborn noted that the opinion poll answers support his record and statements regarding foreign policy.

In two areas of domestic issues only a few percentage points separated the opinions of the Will county residents who returned their questionnaires.

Forty - two per cent favored reducing last year's defense expenditure of $50 billion while 41 per cent opposed a reduction in the area of defense spending.

Erlenborn noted that 2 per cent of those favoring the defense spending reduction qualified their answer to mean "cutting out duplication, wastes and inefficiencies."

Congressman Erlenborn disclosed that as a member of the Government Operations Committee, the fiscal watchdog of the U. S. House of Representatives, he will conduct a study into Comptroller General's reports of waste in the defense program and seek areas to reduce the budget.

Concerning agriculture 46 per cent of the Will answers opposed continued price supports and crop controls. Forty-one per cent of those participating favored continued farm subsidies and controls, but 41 per cent of those stated their approval of a gradual reduction of both farm subsidies and controls while 51 per cent had no opinion.

Rep. Erlenborn is on record supporting the gradual reduction of aid to agriculture and farm controls.

Fifty per cent of those participating favored a Constitutional amendment allowing one house of the Illinois legislature to be apportioned on a basis other than population. Twenty-seven per cent of the answers opposed this proposal which is now before the United States senate.

Concerning the controversial right-to-work provision of the Taft-Hartley law, 55 per cent of the answers opposed its proposed repeal.

Rep. Erlenborn is on record favoring the retention of the right - to - work clause in the Taft-Hartley act which allows a state to adopt a local right-to-work law.

"This is a local issue. It is a state issue. I support the right of a state to approve or reject right-to-work legislation for that state," the congressman explained.

In another area of the poll, 87 per cent of the returns favored allowing the parents to deduct part of a child's college expenses from federal income tax. Rep. Erlenborn has introduced legislation that would allow this deduction.

Village Board To Meet Tuesday

The Frankfort village board will meet next Tuesday night instead of Monday. Next Monday will be observed as a holiday in many places since the Fourth of July falls on Sunday.

Some establishments will close early on Friday so there will be a long holiday.

Mokena Reds Beat Bankers But Lose Game To Blues

The Mokena Reds combined some timely hitting with a New Lenox error to score three runs in the last inning and defeat the New Lenox State Bank team 5-4 on June 22 in a Lincoln-Way Babe Ruth League game. The winning pitcher was Gordon Bruce, who relieved starter Nate Roesner in the fourth. Dixon, Stanis, Taylor and Roesner each had two hits for the Reds, the latter two collecting doubles. Losing pitcher Bill Druschel and his brother Rick each hit homers for New Lenox.

The Mokena Blues-Frankfort game that night was called in the first inning because of bad weather and will be rescheduled.

Friday, June 25, the two Mokena teams played a close, exciting game that was long on pitching and short on fielding, the Blues winning 5-3. Pitchers Bob Taylor for the Reds and Dave Wallace for the Blues each went all the way, Taylor getting nine strike-outs and allowing four hits, and Wallace striking out eight and giving up only two hits. The two teams committed 11 errors between them and all three Reds' runs were unearned. Mike Buske and

Orland Bank Staffer Wins Golf Outing Medal

Ronald Johnson, an assistant cashier of the Orland State Bank, Orland Park, was medalist and winner of the annual golf outing of the Southern Cook County Bankers Association, with a low gross score of 78.

Lincolnshire Country club, near Crete, was the scene of the outing, a 6400-yard layout that carries a par of 36-36-72, with six par 5 holes and six par 3's out of the 18, a rather unusual setup.

Johnson carded a 42 on the out nine but came home in even par for a total of 78 strokes.

George Gee, Jr., tied for third with a gross score of 82.

Other members of the Orland State staff who played were W. R. Schussler, Jr., Byron Murgatroyd, Jim Weicker and Kent Lindsey.

Besides four prizes for gross scores there were other prizes for those in the Peoria handicap, which is a sort of refined blind bogey with trimmings. Some call it Bankers' handicap but that is not what these bankers called it.

Twenty-four banks were represented by 150 staffers at the outing and of the 150 an even hundred played golf.

BUSINESS & FINANCE

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

A sort of horse-back survey of market opinion as to direction, with some analysts known to us, does not give us the idea that any of these analysts believe that some dark reasons exist for the market action on the down side.

A number indicate that they are of the opinion that the average investor dislikes the unknown and will usually do nothing or lighten his investment position until he is able to get a better opinion or knowledge of the presently unknown position. The old adage that it is better to do nothing in the face of doubt, has its counterpart in football parlance, i.e. - when in doubt, punt. The foreign situation does not seem to improve rather it indicates turmoil for some time to come.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin has been given blame (or credit) for the recent decline in market prices of the stock exchanges. He had made a talk to a university group and noted that the economy of the USA had been expanding at a rate which he thought was too fast and might lead to difficulty. This is a rather loose paraphrase of what he said. The newspapers commented on the examples he cited for comparison with the present economic situation as to expansion rate before the famous crash of 1929. They did not note that he also had the fourth inning when he walked the bases loaded and then allowed two home runs. However, he settled down and retired the next 12 men to face him preserving the Frankfort victory.

Rick Kohlbacher and Dale Brown lead the Frankfort attack. Brown had a single, and a home run and Kohlbacher had a double and a home run.

Frankfort Leads Babe Ruth Loop

The Red and White Frankfort Babe Ruth team with a record of four wins and one loss now occupies first place in the Lincoln-Way Babe Ruth Baseball League.

After winning the first three games, they lost to the New Lenox #2 Team on June 18 by a score of 13 to 9. On June 22, their game against the Mokena #1 Team was rained out.

Last Friday the Team played their first game of the second round against the New Lenox #1 Team at New Lenox. They won this game by a score of 11 to 6 behind the pitching of Larry Batson. Batson pitched an excellent game but got into trouble in

Learn-To-Swim Classes Start In County Soon

Learn-to-swim classes will begin soon in about 15 pools and beaches thruout Will county.

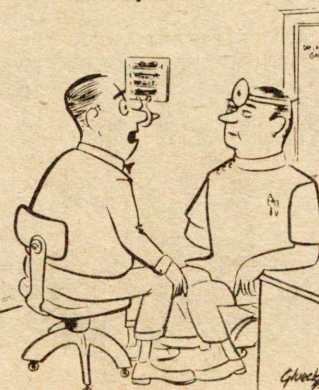

Red Cross instruction at these locations will be free, as in past years, according to an announcement from Will county regional office of Mid-America Red Cross Chapter.

Instructors and water safety aides already are trained in preparation for the opening of classes. About 4,000 children and adults each summer take advantage of the classes, designed to help everyone have fun safely in the water.

Minimum age for beginners is usually eight. Public pools in general are open to all comers for learn-to-swim classes while private pools usually restrict enrollment to members only.

Anyone interested in the classes may get starting dates and other details by calling the pool, beach or recreation club where he wishes to enroll.

"Our bandmaster thinks I need glasses."

remarked as to the dissimilarities with 1929 situation.

Martin spoke at graduating exercises at Columbia university and told his audience that he felt that newspapers had put an unduly pessimistic tone to his speech in which he expressed the belief that the economy was going at too fast a pace as to increase in its volume. He noted that he is now accused of fostering recessions by the tightening of credit. He noted that a central banker must always be aware of the risk that the country might slide into either inflation or deflation and that no matter what action he takes to achieve equilibrium, he will be criticized as being too far to one side or the other and criticized for whichever action taken.

To again quote an old adage in the realm of market action! It is noted by many students of the market, that it takes a considerable push to turn the market away from a firm trend. This means that when the market is going ahead at a substantial pace on the upside, it is difficult to turn the market about and the same on the downside. If there is an over - bought position, it can be turned fairly easily and vice versa.

For quite some time some of the financial writers have dwelt heavily on the "balance of payments" in international monetary matters. Martin noted that the U.S. balance of payments has been approximately in balance for the past four months.

Some less impressionistic investment analysts have noted that in past couple of weeks the financial markets have had to absorb a very heavy load in the large offering of Ford stock sold by the Ford Foundation, the large amount of preferred stock sold by the Chase National Bank and First National City Banks, etc. This took a large amount of investment funds out of the market at a time when some analysts believe the market was ready for a corrective decline.

The Stock Market Survey of American Investors Corporation, a well reputed investment service, stated, "Nearly every bull market is interrupted by at least two or three reactions of intermediate - term proportions before the final top is reached. There is no reason to assume that the current bull market will be an exception." This service believes that the market is in an over sold position.

Too many market analysts are able to give excellent reasons for a slide when it takes place and the same treatment for a sustained advance, - after the event!

There is considerable optimism for business generally altho tempered with caution as to the speed of the rate of advance.

Orland Girl Writes Of Work With Peace Corps In Africa

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Wilma M. Maue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Maue, 11390 W. 158th St., Orland Park, now a member of the Peace Corps and assigned to Ethiopia as a teacher in a secondary school, writes of her experiences there.)

She was graduated from Carl Sanburg high school at Orland Park in 1960 and received a B.A. degree at Rockford college (Rockford, Ill.) in 1964, majoring in zoology. She spent her junior year at Exeter university in England. Before going to Ethiopia she had 10 weeks of Peace Corps training at the Los Angeles branch of the University of California.)

"Greetings from Ethiopia: Most of you have been accustomed in print about the Peace Corps and 'the image' until it probably seems as natural to read about it over the breakfast table as it does to eat the cereal served on it. But since you are paying for it and I'm in it, I thought you might appreciate a letter from a very grateful recipient of one of the greatest experiences life has to offer.

I'm teaching at Medhane

Alem ("Saviour of the World") secondary school in Harar, which is a village-like city located 7200 feet up in the mountains of Hararge province in eastern Ethiopia. My day typically consists of classes in eighth grade mathematics, tenth grade biology, one to three private music lessons, and, twice each week, teaching art to the students in the art club. Weekends? That's where the fun really begins. There is always something new to do, like climbing Kundudo, the mountain which overlooks Harar on the east and is supposedly the place where Noah first landed his Ark, or visiting Bisidimo leper colony beyond Kundudo, or going out to an Ethiopian farm and helping with the hog butchering. Of course, along with the saying that there is always something new to do comes the fact that there is always something old that has to be done, like unblocking the bathroom relics or donning rubber boots and playing electrician, or going out and leading some poor water-burdened donkey to a bone-dry water tank over one's house.

The climate of my African

home is without a doubt the realization of the braggingest travel brochure ever printed. The temperature stays between 70 and 85 during the day and cools off to a comfortable 60 to 65 degrees at night. The year is divided into a little rain season, a big rainy season, and a dry season, but there is never what one could call an even slightly dismal day. Even during the big rains there is a lot of sunshine; I have yet to see a really overcast sky.

Along with this climate goes a variety of fauna and flora that seems to combine the colors of a spinning kleidoscope and the painstaking thought and care of an old philosopher. Within a day's travelling time of Harar one can see everything from the Asbete-Feri rainforests to the Danakil desert to almost barren mountains and grassy plains. African wildlife (particularly kudu, gazelle, guernuk, oryx, bushbucks, dik dik, wild boer, and a variety of colorful birds) run or fly free in the bush areas just outside of Harar, and they are marvelous to watch. Inside of our ancient Aderi city, a different set of animals make their home; cleanliness, for example, is primarily the work of industrious mongooses and hyenas, who have scavenged their way into government protection in Ethiopia. (You may have read about our hyena man in the April issue of the National Geographic Magazine.)

As for working with Ethiopians, all I can say is that I love it. I find my students to be that very international combination of devilishness, humor, responsiveness, and, of course, sometimes, laziness. They come from an interesting variety of backgrounds, including Aderi, Somali, Tigre, Galla, Amhara, Danakil, and some Italian. Their primary languages are as varied as their ethnic backgrounds, but most of them speak Amharic or Aderi and acceptable English. Every day brings a fascinating new encounter with their traditions, customs, and costumes.

After having been in the Peace Corps actively for almost a year, my feelings for its efforts, i.e., our efforts and yours, can only be described as continually growing stronger and having more reason to do so. The Peace Corps is young, always subject to criticism, not yet old enough for its effect to be judged by history; but I don't think you could be anything but proud of our efforts in our host countries, for them, for ourselves, and for you. I get the same thrill when I think about it now as I did on the day I arrived in Harar last year and heard a tiny enthusiastic little voice propped up on bouncing legs squeal, 'More Peece Cores is here!'

Conciliation Service Works, Declares Judge

The success of the new divorce conciliation service, a part of the divorce division of the circuit court of Cook County, has resulted in an expansion of the service, it was announced this week.

Robert L. Hunter, presiding judge of the divorce division, announced the appointment, effective immediately, of Ben B. Small, 53, as a divorce conciliator within the service. The pay is $745 a month.

Judge Hunter added that plans call for appointing four more conciliators to work under Dr. I. A. Burch, director of the service.

"The interest and co-operation demonstrated by lawyers, judges and many others have helped to make the service a success," Judge Hunter said.

The service, now located at 1 N. Wacker, came into being 10 weeks ago under the direction of Chief Judge John S. Boyle of the Cook County circuit court. Dr. Burch, a Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State university, said the service currently has appointments scheduled a month in advance.

He added that the service has been able to avert divorce in one-third of the cases it has handled to date. One result, he said, has been the retention of intact families for more than 100 children.

The awards are primarily for majors in the fields of home economics, nursing and music.

Recipients include Miss Letty Renee Fiegens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Fiegen of S. Woodland Circle in Mokena.

Miss Fiegens, a 1963 graduate of Lincoln -

Way high school, will continue her study of music therapy at TWU this fall.

In high school she was in the band for four years, being student director part of that time. At TWU she is a member of the Lass-O Band, Modern Choir, Music Therapy club and vice-president of the Music club.

ALBERT H. KRUSE - MARK, III, has been graduated from the University of Illinois college of law. He is scheduled to take the state bar examination in August. After being admitted to practice he will join the law firm started by his grandfather, Albert H. Krusemark, Sr., which became Krusemark and Krusemark when Albert Jr. began the practice of law.

A schedule of bus pick-up stations for Girl Scouts and adult helpers who will attend the Trikena day camp in Van Horn Woods, July 12-16, is announced by the committee in charge.

There are 220 girl scouts and 45 adult helpers who will attend the camp sessions from Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox.

At Mokena the bus will stop at St. Mary hall, 195th and Wolf rd., at 8:30 a.m. and the V.F.W. hall, Wolf rd. at 8:45, and make the return trip at 3:30 and 3:45 respectively.

At Lincoln Estates the campers will be picked up at the Standard Oil station at 8:15 and make the return at 4:15.

At Arbury Hills the girls are to be at the Arbury Hills school at 8:30 and will return at 4:15.

Three stops are scheduled for New Lenox, Oak View school, 8:15; Haven school, 8:15; Eding's restaurant, U. S. 30, 8:25; all three returns about 4:15.

Plans for the camping session have been completed and the adults informed. Each unit leader has a list of her girls and is to call them.

Persons with any questions concerning the bus schedule may call Mrs. Edward Townsend at 485-8652 or Mrs. Robert Best, 479-5394.

Draft Plans To Improve Water System At Mokena

Preliminary engineering plans have been completed for extensive improvements and additions to the village of Mokena's water system. Included in the plans are the construction of a second well and pump and pump house, the installation of a water chlorinator and master water meter, the repair of the village's water storage tank, and the installation of more than 8,000 feet of 6" and 8" water mains.

To finance the costs of construction the village board has called a special election for Saturday, July 31 upon the question of issuing $105,000 water bonds. To avoid an unusually large tax increase and to take advantage of the larger tax base anticipated in future years, the village board has recommended the bonds be repaid over 15 years.

Based upon the present valuation of the village of Mokena, a tax increase averaging only 19.5 cents per $100 taxable valuation will be required. As the total valuation of the village grows in future years, resulting from the construction of new homes and businesses, the required tax rate should steadily decrease.

With only one operating water source, the village could be crippled by a mechanical breakdown. Accordingly, for both general public convenience and fire safety, the village board believes the new well and pump to be essential to the community's welfare. Similarly the repair of the village's one elevated storage tank is considered a "must."

The special election is to be held from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. July 31. To qualify for voting residents of the village must be registered voters. Absentee ballots, for persons expecting to be away on the day of election may be obtained from the Village Clerk Alvin S. Sorenson.

Special Services To Mark Centennial At Peotone's St. John's

Beginning this Sunday and continuing thru July, members of rural St. John's United Church of Christ northwest of Peotone, will have special services commemorating the church's 100th anniversary.

The church was organized July 23, 1865 by 16 families, all German immigrants and all farmers. There are approximately 60 families in the church now, mostly farmers or retired farmers, and a large share of them are direct descendants of the founders. St. John's is one of the few "Farmer churches" to survive in the Chicago region.

In the beginning its name was a mouthful of German, Deutsche Versinigte Evangelische St. Johannes Gemeinde and became a part of the Evangelical Synod of North America. In 1934, because of mergers, this became the Evangelical and Reformed church and in 1957 thru another merger--this time with the Congregationalists -- the United Church of Christ.

The church recorded its deed of property July 24, 1865 but the parsonage was built first and services conducted there until the church was erected in 1870.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH of North Peotone is celebrating a centennial. The building itself is 95 years old but the church was organized five years previously, in 1865.

Church of Christ.

It is still in use but there was some remodeling in 1940. A new altar was built; the church was carpeted and chimes added to the pipe organ. Mrs. Wilbert Lauffer and Miss Sandra Nagel are the organists.

In the past 25 years there have been three pastors, the Rev. C. J. Schrupp, the Rev. Ernest Gander and the current pastor, the Rev. Eugene Walther.

In all 19 pastors have served the church.

Oldest living member is Mrs. Louis Meisterling, 93, who is still able to attend services occasionally. There are 150 members and the Sunday school has a membership of 95, the Women's Guild about 50 and the Senior Fellowship, 35.

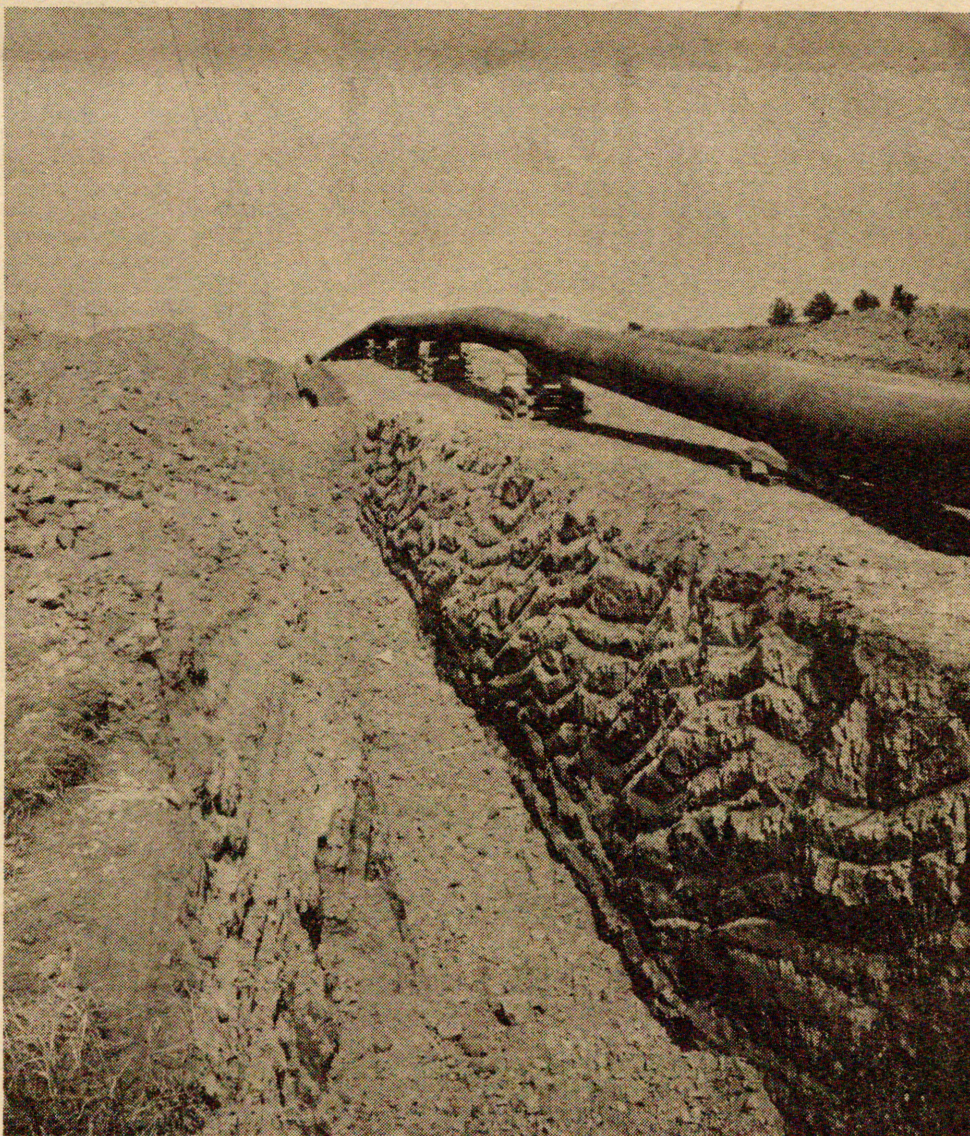

"Jubilee Inaugurating Service" is the theme of this Sunday's program; a "Reunion Service" is scheduled for July 11, and July 18 will be set aside for the sister churches with the Rev. Ben M. Herbster, president of the United Church of Christ as speaker. July 25 will be "Jubilee Sunday" with the Rev. Hugo Leinberger, director for church extension and planning in Illinois, as speaker. A jubilee dinner will follow the morning service at the Will County Atrium in Peotone. There will be a pageant in the afternoon and a film centering on St. John's church.

School Buys Big Horns

The band budget for the 1965-66 school year has recently been approved. Included in the budget, arrangements have been made for the purchase of 12 new instruments that will strengthen the band program. Most of them are the large instruments that parents seldom purchase or rent for their children. The following instruments will be available for rental this summer: two sousaphones, one baritone horn, one E flat baritone saxophone, two French horns, 1 tenor saxophone, two E flat alto horns, one piccolo, one bass clarinet and two snare drums.

Students that are interested in joining the band will now have an excellent opportunity to begin during the summer band program. Students must be from the 4th to 7th grade and must be willing to come regularly to summer band and willing to practice. The band instruments will rent for $10 per year.

Students interested in joining the band may inquire at the Willowcrest school on Tuesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. There will be no charge for special lessons during the summer.

NOT AN OIL LINE in an Arabian desert. It's a gas line running thru New Lenox, Frankfort and parts east and west. This particular picture was taken at Harlem ave., looking east. It looks like a desert and is twice as dusty but that's because of lack of rain. A lot of the line was still uncovered east of Frankfort last week-end but west of the village it was covered. The pipe you see here probably has been wrapped and a preservative coating applied by now and if it hasn't been laid down in the ditch here at the left by now it will be shortly. Construction and Material Co. of Evanston, one of the few firms in these latitudes that can handle big pipe, has the contract for laying a 30-inch gas line between Mazon, in Grundy county, and the NI-Gas Co. holder on Central ave., along the Northwestern rd., a 43-mile project. A 36-inch main is also being brought down from the vicinity of Goodings Groove. The line thru Frankfort is following along E.J.&E. railway and if the easement could be given a stone base and later on paved, the territory would have a new east-west road that would run pretty straight and skirt the towns. The superintendent of the job, Alvin Ashley, maintains a command post at Frankfort, in an open field near the match factory, from where he keeps in touch with the various crews by radio. The gas to be carried is coming up from the southwest, from suppliers to NI-Gas.
